

The Economic and Political Weekly, published by the Sameeksha Trust, a registered charitable trust since 1949, is one of the Indian publications that enjoy a global reputation for excellence and scholarship. It occupies a special place in the intellectual history of independent India. It publishes analysis of contemporary affairs and academic papers in the social sciences. The focus of the EPW is economic issues, but it is truly a multidisciplinary publication covering sociology, political science, history, gender and environment studies. EPW publishes both research in social sciences in the "Special Articles" Section and informed comment on current affairs in the "Commentary Section".

EPW publishes minimum of 70,000 to 80,000 words on a variety of issues. The articles are contributed by leading academicians, well-known public commentators, young social scientists and political activists who seek a platform to publish their views. All the members of UGC-INFONET Digital Library Consortium have been provided access to EPW with backfiles from 1966 onwards.

Semester System for Undergraduates: A Critique
The semester system proposed at the undergraduate level will unsettle students from the subaltern communities and will result in a reproduction of inequalities. It seems to have been designed for the benefit of the foreign university service provider.

Climate Mitigation Efforts

Climate change will impact different regions and sectors differently based on their sensitivity to itself in gradual changes in temperature, precipitation and a rise in the frequency, intensity and duration of extreme events. It also depends on natural resources, climate change could represent an additional stress on agriculture, forestry, coastlines, water resources and human health. This paper discusses future emissions scenarios in India, highlighting the extent of India's vulnerability to climate change, and critically analyses the initiatives undertaken at home to mitigate GHG emissions.
